

Park Spending Spending Analysis for Indiana

Gabriel Toscano
Analyst

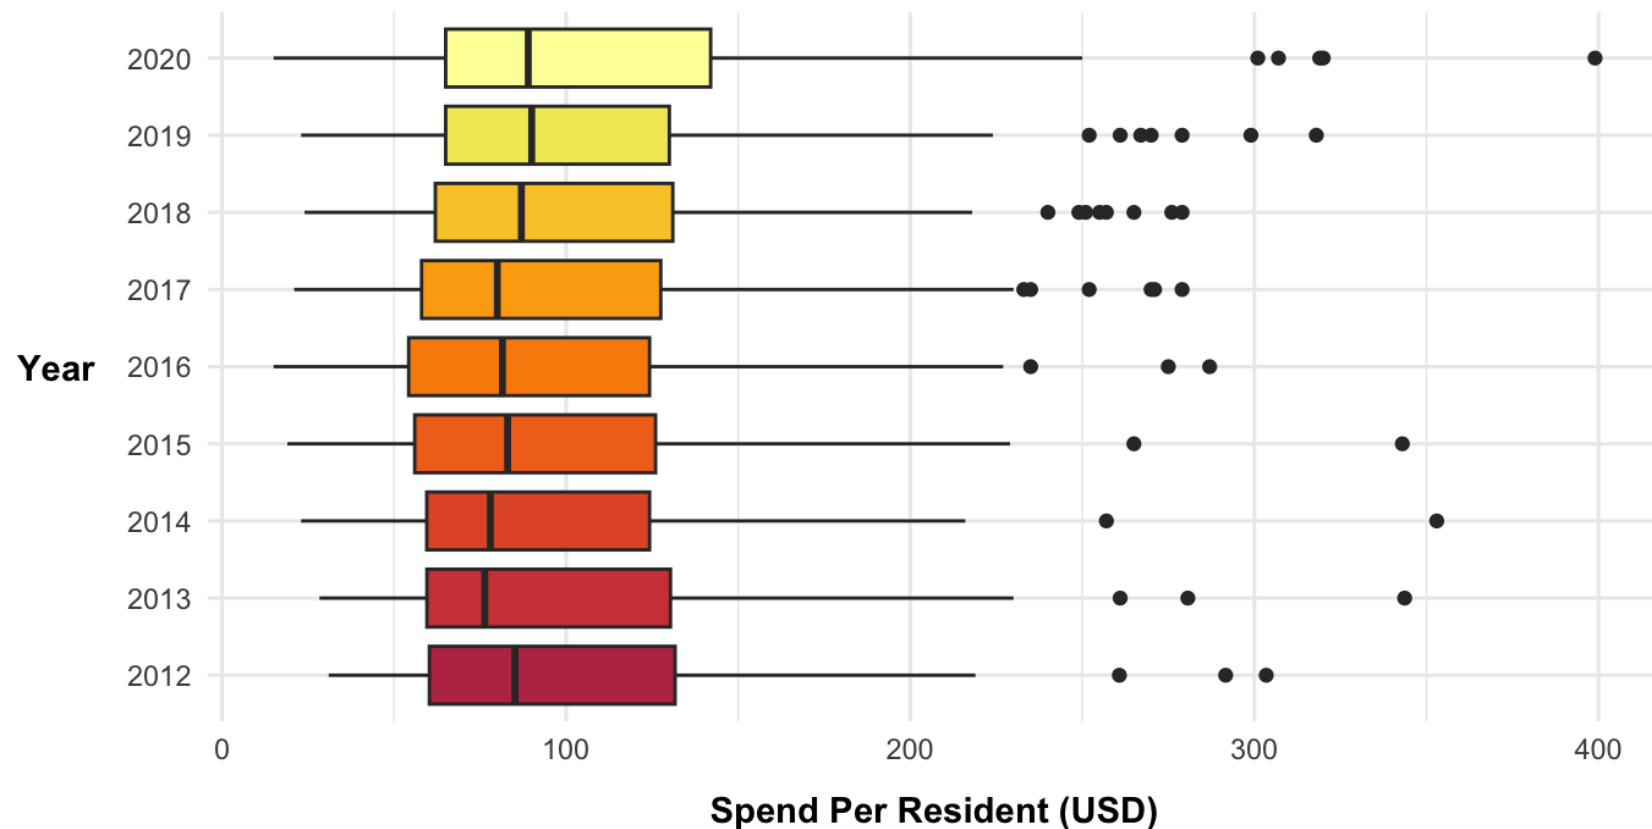

September, 2024

Agenda

- National Trends in Park Spending
- Changes in Spending From 2012
- Cities with the Most and Least Park Spending
- Comparing Spending to Coverage
- Q&A and Contact Information

National Trends in Park Spending

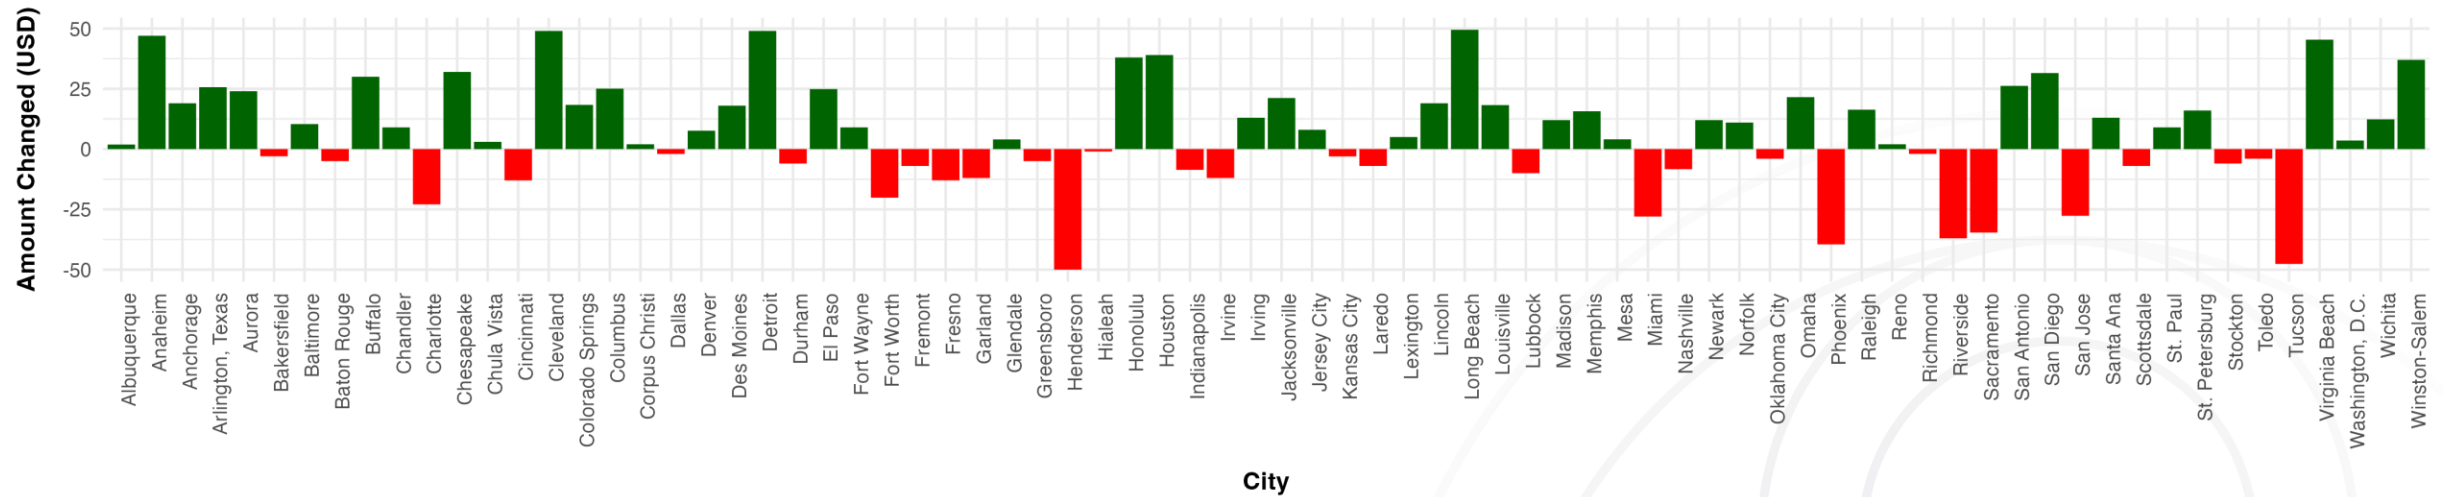

Spend per Resident by Year

- The national average for park spending gradually increased from 2017 onwards
- The outlier cities spent more than ever in 2020

Change in Spending Per Resident by City

First Year vs Most Recent Year Spending

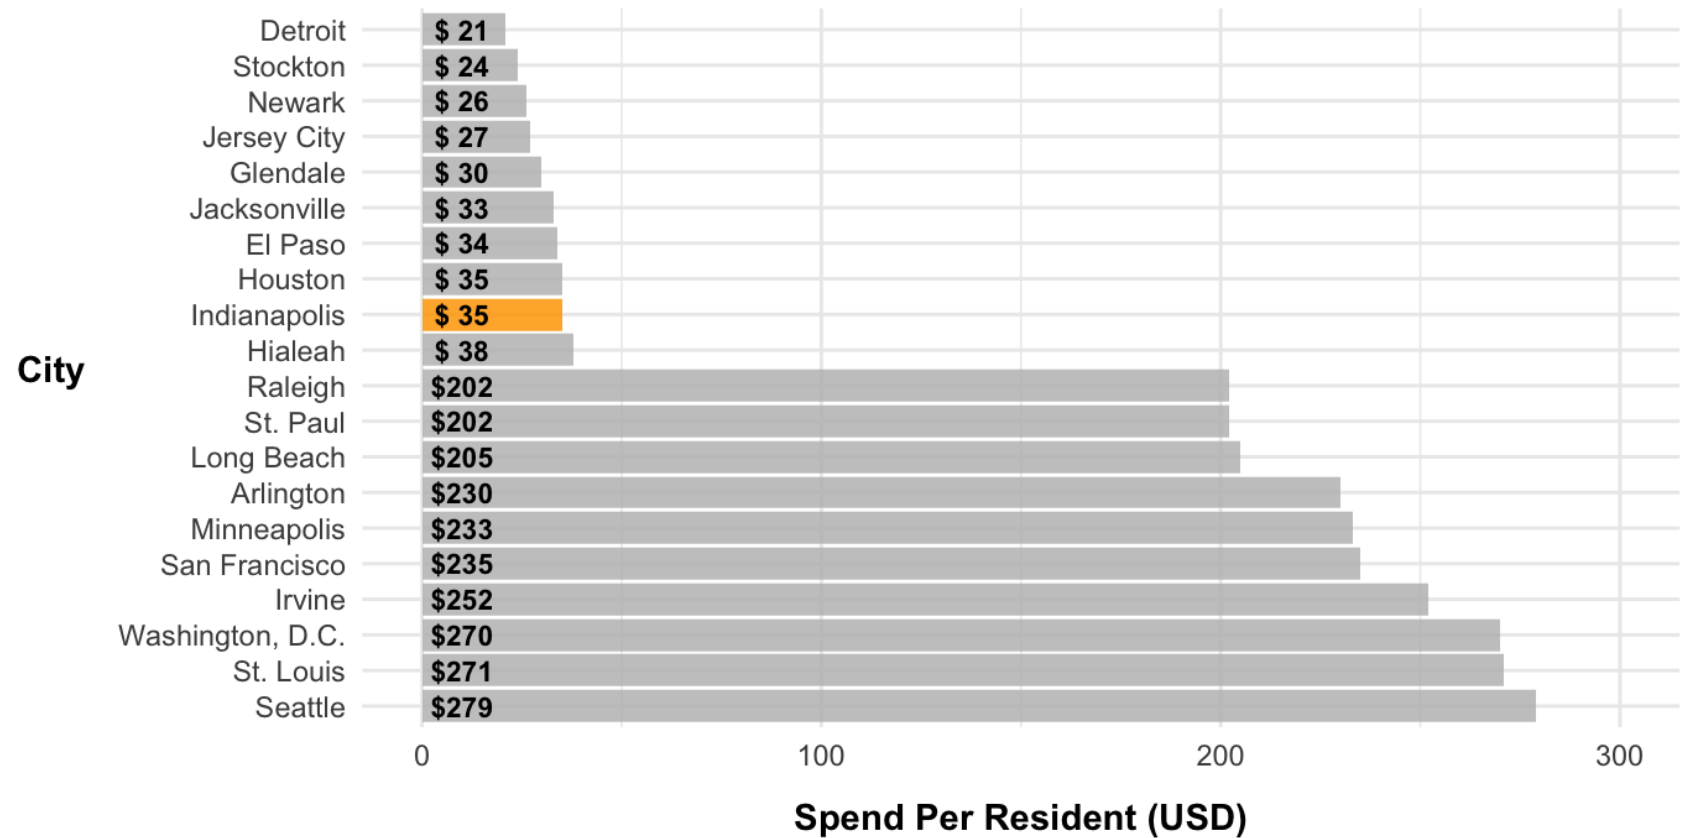

- Large swings in spending per resident between 2012 and the most recent year
- Largest increases in
 - Long Beach
 - Cleveland
 - Detroit
 - Anaheim
 - Houston
- Largest decreases in
 - Henderson
 - Tucson
 - Phoenix
 - Riverside
 - Sacramento

Cities with the Least and Most Park Spending in 2017

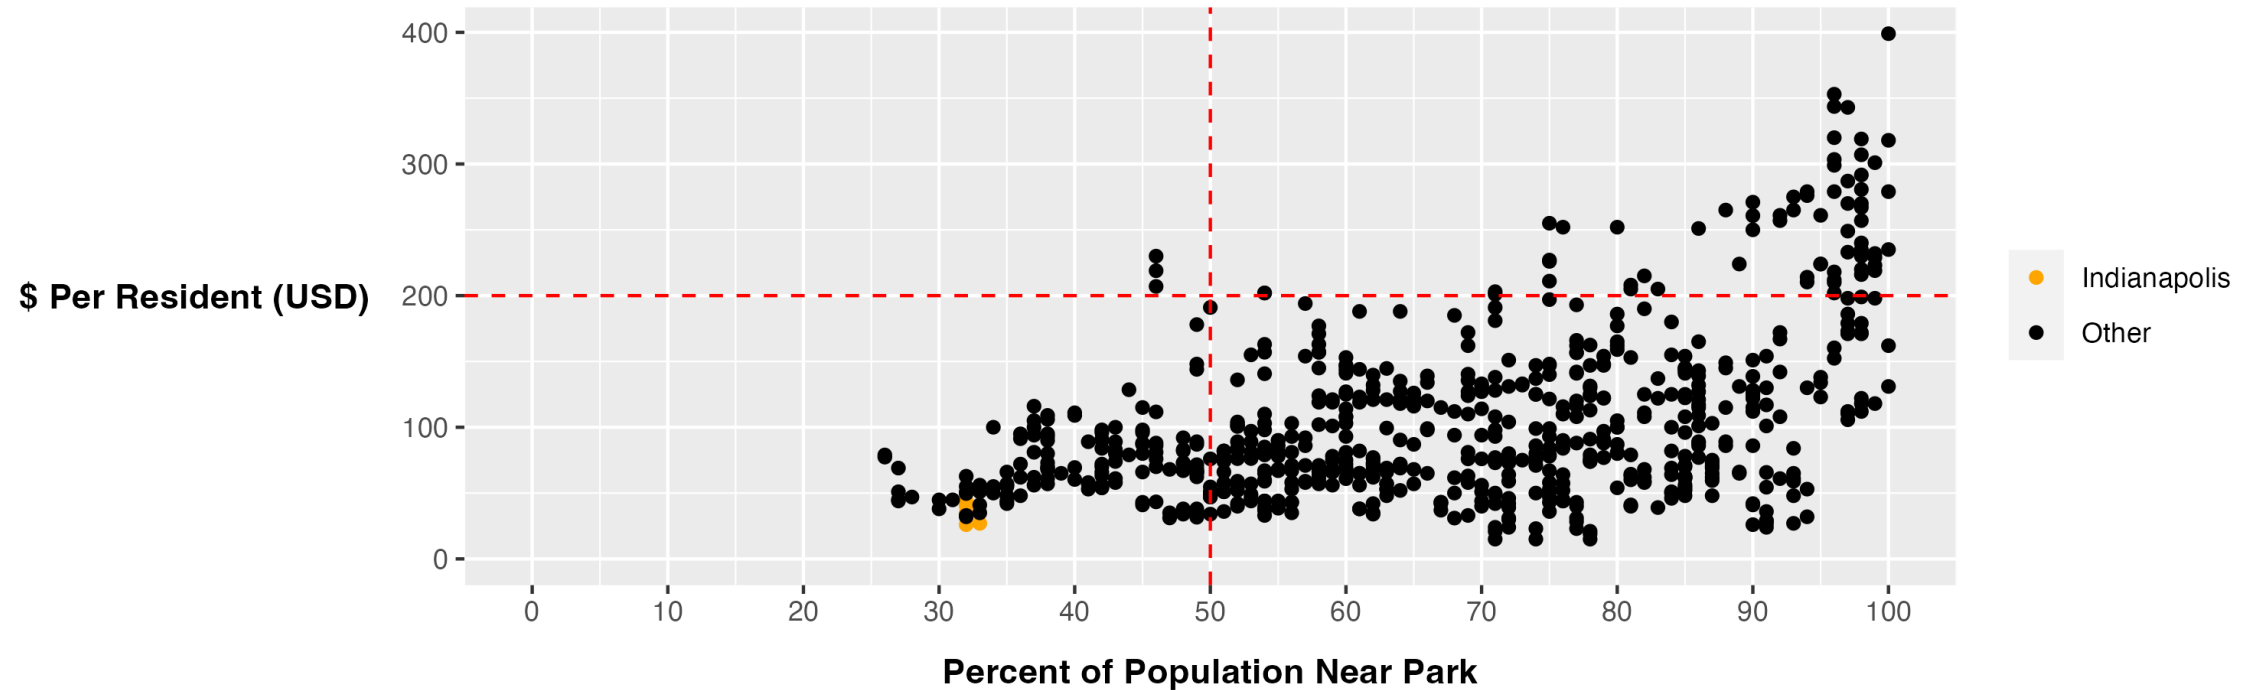

Spend per Resident by City

- Indianapolis is among the lowest spenders per resident in the country
- The gap between the bottom 10 spenders and the top 10 spenders is over $100 per resident

Comparing Spend and Percent Near Parks

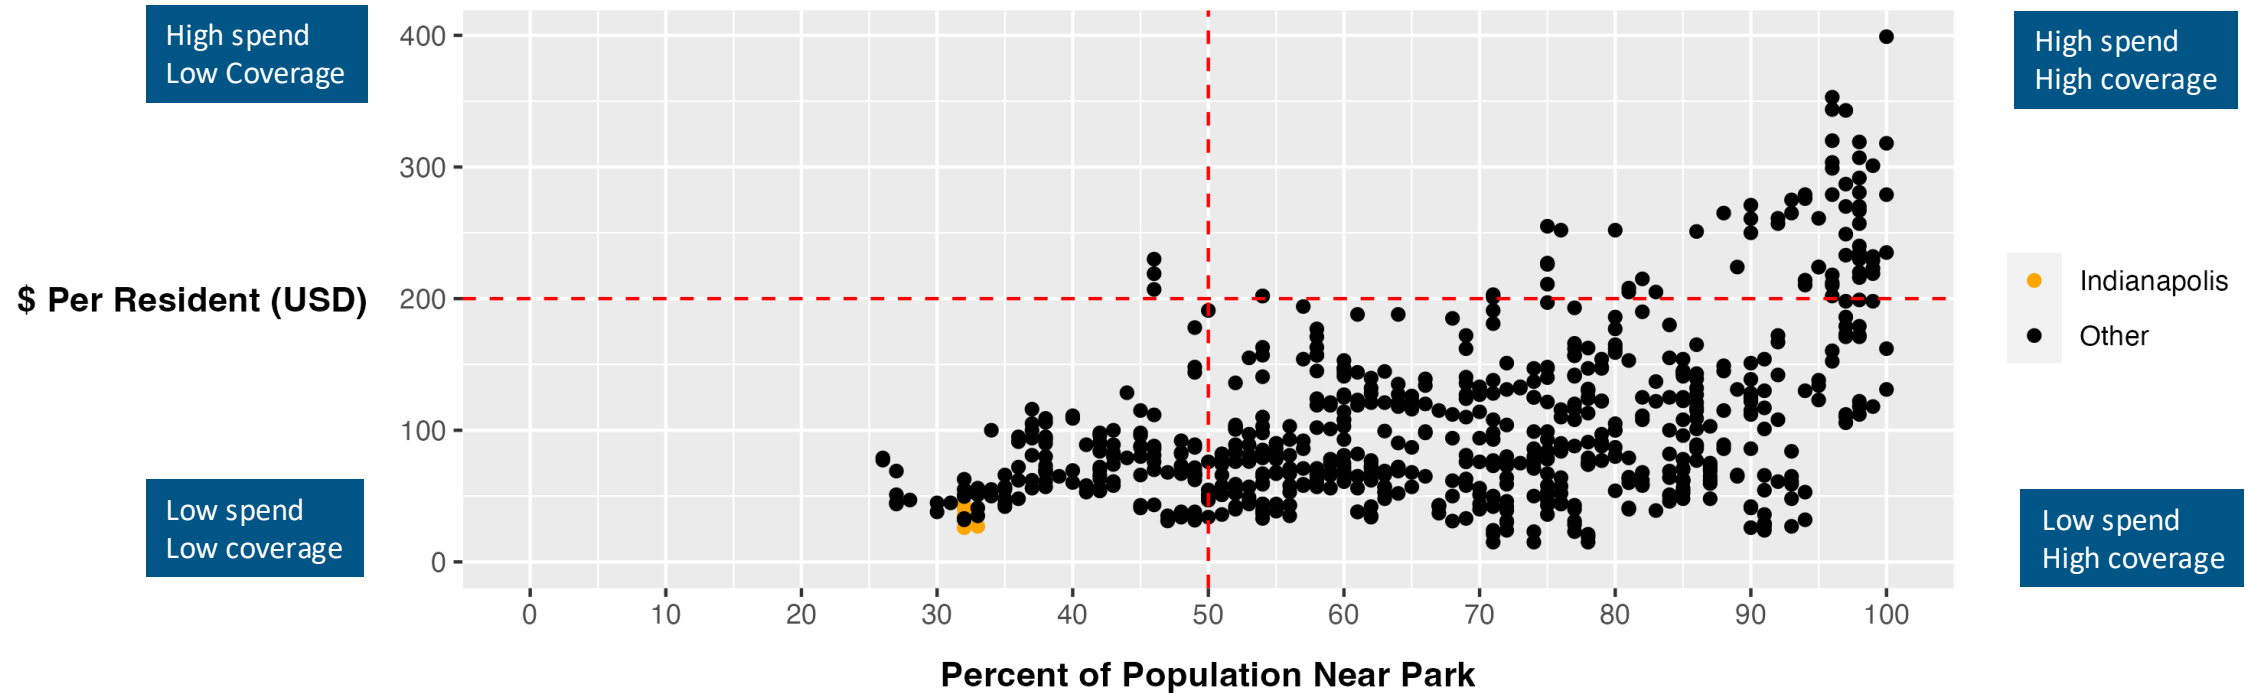

All Park Data 2012 - 2020

- Indianapolis is a among the lowest spenders and has some of the lowest coverage in terms of percent of population near a park

Comparing Spend and Percent Near Parks

All Park Data 2012 - 2020

- Many cities in the low spend, high coverage quadrant provide 50% or more coverage at the same level of spending per resident as Indianapolis

Q&A

Gabriel Toscano

gabriel.toscano@duke.edu

linkedin.com/gabriel-toscano/

